18 November, 2008 – Santhiya Resort & Spa was recently visited by OK! Celebrity Magazine's Travel Features Writer Ms. Christina Reeves who was very impressed with Santhiya's unique presentation, concept and design of the resort. Christina stayed for 5 days and extended her stay for another night as she couldn't get enough of the wonders and beauty of Koh Pha-Ngan not only that she did enjoyed her stay at the luxurious Santhiya Hideaway Pool Villa Suite she also did enjoyed a spa massage at Santhiya's very own Ayurveda Spa, a tour of the island for her to get to know more about Koh Pha-Ngan as an emerging destination, the cookery class that she was able to get a hands-on to learning how to cook "Tom Yum Kung" (Spicy Prawn Soup) a very famous Thai dish and the over-all service of Santhiya staff has truly made her stay memorable than ever. Christina was accompanied by Santhiya's very own General Manager, Mr. Danny Sukomol who had been such a wonderful host to Christina. Christina with Santhiya's GM attended the famed full moon party which Koh Pha-Ngan is most popularly known for and visited the famous Thandasadet Waterfalls, a water fall in Koh Pha-Ngan that has been visited by several King's of Thailand.

Christina was able to write a lot of helpful information for OK! Celebrity Magazine readers to know what to expect when planning a vacation in Thailand specifically to answer questions like what to eat?, what activities Santhiya offers?, what else can be done while at the resort?, how to get there? And of course a scoop on who are the famous celebrities visited the island? For OK! Celebrity Magazine writer Ms. Christina Reeves this trip was all well worth it and a huge success. Santhiya is looking forward for more successful press coverage's in 2009 with OK! Celebrity Magazine and/or other internationally distributed and equally famous travel feature magazines.
